Another Reliever in Annexation AGNES M. DILLON, 1845 Broadway-I think the best way to improve Brooklyn would be to annex it to New York.

Honest Politicians. 8. H. N., Lorimer street-What Brooklyn most needs is honest politicians—politicians who after election will do all they promised to do before they were elected to office. Give us such politicians and Brooklyn would not suffer for its wants and proper care.

**More Protection.**

JOSEPH STRIEM, 318 West Twenty-sixth street—Give the working people a chance and have more railroad cars on hand. Let us have more police officers to protect the people of this beautiful city of Brooklyn, and not put more officers on the force only after a murder or a horrible crime has been committed.

Shake Up the Courts.

Thomas Dobbins, 208 First street—Law has been required by all nations for their own preservation and for the welfare and protection of their people. A few months ago District-Attorney Ridgway, after the son of a prominent man had been tried for murder and acquitted, had been credited by the daity papers with a statement to the effect that would convict the son of a wealthy man. It such be the case, and since all honorable citize. Seek redress by law, I think Brooklyn is to rich and poor alice.

**A Long Terrage**

A long the fl and acquitted, had been credited by the daily papers with a statement to the effect that "a jury could not be found in Brooklyn that would convict the son of a wealthy man." It such be the case, and since all honorable citizens seek redress by law, I think Brooklyn's greatest need is to have her courts or justice "shaken up" so that justice may be dealt out to rich and pour alice.

A Lang Terraco.

A Long Terraec. AN OLD BROOKLYNITE-Having read your article on " Hints to Brooklyn," loving the old city and having lived bere alines; all my life, I thought I would send my suggestions. First of all, clean streets, for we are blinded by dust and flying paper ; second, we have no by dust and flying paper; second, we have no place to take a walk, a short walk. If Brook-In had on the leights a long terrace or alley of tree, instead of that little end of Montague stree, how proud we would be. No city in the world could boast of such a one even better than kiverside Park. Except a tew handsome houses, the others are all tumble-down houses, which the city could buy up gradually. The property around would increase in value, that part made beautiful, and people would have a place to admire the port, the great city, the shipping. It was a shame it was not thought of years ago, when it would not have cost anything and would have become an ornament and a great benefit to Brookly in.

Horses and Dogs.

Horses and Dogs. Mrs. ANNIE MICHEILS, 485 Union streetidea of the Brooklyn improvement concern
But at present I think that I can give my opinion as well as the next one; that is, for Brooklyn to have more piaces where the poer horses could have a drink as well as the men who trudge with them all day. I think it would be a very good improvement. Also, if it is the officers of laws' duty to investigate the dog license this year let them be more strict than they have been, and I think it would save a great many people from being bitten be mad dogs this Summer. Some poopie hide their dog and the either is teld there is no dog in the bouse. In due time these dogs are let out, and being thirsty in the heat of the Summer days they go mad, and who has to suffer but the poor people. So it the officers would be a great relief from lear
of inad dogs.

the Minneapolis Delegation,

The smoke of the first skirmish of the butaccurately the result of the clash at arms to have been a drawn battle.

To-night the forces, led respectively by Naval Officer Willis and Internal Revenue Collector Ernst Nathan, will fight to a fluish, and it will be definitely decided how many of Brooklyn's representatives in the Minneapo Convention will range under the flag of Har- 8 rison and Tracy or be lined up in opposition under the banner of Platt and an Unknown. Primaries in all the wards of Brooklyn were held yesterday to choose delegates first to Congressional district conventions, who will in turn select delegates to the National Convention at Minneapolis, and second, to choose delegates to Assembly district conventions which will select the party's representative to the State Convention at Albany next Thursday. As a result of the primaries the Nathan wing claim to have elected 190 delegates to the Congressional district conventions, and concede 203 to the Willis faction. When the vote is analyzed on geographical lines the Nathan men claim that it gives to them majority in two Congress districts and two to the Willis contingent. The latter, however, dispute this, asserting that Nathan has car ried only one Congress district. Ex - Senator Birkett vindicated his boit against Willis by carrying his own, the Fourth, Ward, and thus insured the Third Congress District to Mr. Nathan. Michael J. Dady carried the Third Ward by nearly four Naval Officer Willis said: "Nathau simply can't win in this fight. The Second and Fifth Districts our side has carried teyond dispute. The doubtful ward in the Fourth District is ours, I believe, which gives us three of the four Congressional Districts, and with the contest in the Third District, which is Nathan's own, will probably take the advantage from him there.

"I will also have ten of the twelve Assembly delegations to the State Convention, so where does Mr. Nathan come in? One result of the primaries is the probable loss to Israel F. Fischer and F. F. Williams of their scats in the State Committee. Fischer is Chairman of the Executive Committee of the local General Committee.
